das$_2$ For the surface of a body of water to roll or swell. Tag: water swell.

dat$_1$ To be narrow. Father Morice (MO1143)) explains the differences among the three roots meaning something like "narrow" as follows: Three adjectival roots render in Carrier our idea of narrowness. These are: dat, k'i, and t'us. The first conveys the concept of lack of breadth and is the stem generally used, while the two others are not interchangeable therewith. k'i denotes flattening of the sides as well as shortness and narrowness of proportions. When applied to a spheroidal object, as is the human head, its real meaning will be better understood as we state that dunusk'i can be translated by dolichocephalous. On the other hand, t'us refers to something that is narrow in its downward extension, such as a roof which is higher from eaves to apex (and therefore proportionately less wide) than is normally the case. Tag: narrow.

daz$_1$ To singe. Tag: singe.

daz$_1$ To be heavy. Tag: heavy.

de$_1$ To wipe. Tag: wipe.

de$_2$ For a subtle substance such as fog or cloud, or anything composed of very fine particles, such as dust, to move. Applies also to things wholly immaterial such as spirits. Tag: cloud moves.

dih$_1$ For light to appear or shine upon. Tag: glitter.

dil$_1$ For three or more to walk on one pair of limbs. Tag: walk-3.

dil$_2$ To handle multiple default objects in an uncontrolled manner. Tag: cl-mdo-u.

dil$_3$ To trot. Tag: trot.

dilh$_1$ To eat items from a "mess" of things individually. Some things that we eat consist of a large number of small things that we do not generally single out. When we eat berries or nuts, we typically scoop up a bunch, without paying attention to individuals. This verb root is used in the less common case in which we do single out individuals. Uses include people "eating berries off the bush", bears eating termites, and ducks eating salmon fry. Tag: eat euo.

dilh$_2$ To dye. Tag: dye.

dilh$_3$ For three or more fish to swim. Tag: fish swim-3.

dis$_1$ For light to move rapidly or to manifest itself abundantly. Tag: radiant.

do$_1$ To handle fluffy stuff in a controlled manner. Tag: cl-fluffy-c.

do$_2$ For fluffy stuff to be located. Tag: cl-fluffy-l.

doh$_1$ To ferment, effervesce, to swell as a result of such a chemical reaction or other internal means. Tag: ferment.

dooz$_1$ To be curly, to curl. Tag: curly.

duk$_1$ To speak. Tag: speak.

dukw$_1$ To be short, in height or length. Tag: short.

dul$_1$ For the leaves on a tree to quiver. Tag: quiver.

dulh$_1$ For the skin to be wrinkled. Tag: wrinkled.

dum$_1$ To crunch something very hard or to make the sound thereof. Tag: crunch.

dum$_2$ To beat, like a heart. Tag: beat.

dus$_1$ To move rapidly in a quasi-circular or wavy manner. Tag: spin.

dus$_2$ To be notched. Tag: notch.

duz$_1$ To make a buzzing sound like a fly. Tag: buzz.

dlah$_1$ To sustain life. Tag: sustain.

dlah$_2$ For many to die in same event. They may die over a period of time, e.g. weeks or even months, if the deaths are all considered part of the same event, e.g. an epidemic or an accident that injured many people who subsequently died at different times. On the other hand, if many people happen to die at the same time but not as the result of the same event, this verb is not appropriate. Although used especially for large numbers of people, it can be used for as few as three. Tag: die together.

dlai$_1$ To be incredulous, skeptical, to disbelieve. Tag: disbelieve. dlalh$_1$ To dream a significant dream, experience a vision. Tag: vision.

dlut$_2$ To smoke, e.g. meat. Tag: smoke.

dzaih$_1$ To claw, scratch with the claws or fingernails. Tag: claw.

dzalh$_1$ For a brittle substance such as glass or porcelain to shatter. Tag: shatter.

dzan$_1$ To be blue. Tag: blue.

dzas$_2$ To skip or dance lightly, like a bird. Tag: bird skip.

dzat$_1$ To be sparse. Tag: sparse.

dze$_1$ To feel off due to eating too much rich food. Tag: bloat.

dze$_2$ For mosslike stuff to be located. Tag: cl-moss-l.

dze$_3$ To handle moss-like stuff in a controlled manner. Tag: cl-moss-c.

dze$_4$ To shake something heavy and fixed somehere. Tag: shake.

dze$_5$ To handle moss-like stuff in an uncontrolled manner. Tag: cl-moss-u.

dzeh$_1$ To handle liquid in a controlled manner. Tag: cl-liquid-c.

dzeh$_2$ To tan, dress a hide. Tag: tan.

dzeh$_3$ To be sticky, to stick to. When used transitively with meanings like "to stick to", it describes the use of a sticky substance to attach one thing to another. In context it may therefore be translated as "to glue", "to paste", "to stick", "to cement", "to solder", etc. Tag: sticky.

dzih$_1$ To try, attempt, test. Tag: try.

dzih$_2$ To measure. Tag: measure.

dzil$_1$ To make a clanking or jingling sound. Tag: clankjingle.
